

A Coordinated Response to Food Emergencies: Practice and Execution

- May 4-5, 2010 (Yakima County)
- May 20-21, 2010 (Thurston County)
- June 29-30, 2010 (King County)

Course Objectives Include:

- Describe the potential impacts and mass consequences due to food borne outbreaks.
- Identify gaps in agency coordination and communication, given a case study.
- Describe how the roles of federal, state, and local agencies, academia, and industry may change according to the type of incident.
- Analyze how properly utilizing laboratory networks would have improved response or identified new gaps using previous case studies.

Target Audience/Discipline

- Emergency Management Agency
- Emergency Medical Services
- Governmental
- Administrative
- Healthcare
- Law Enforcement
- Hazardous Materials Personnel
- Public Health
- Public Safety Communications

Prerequisites:

Participants should be familiar with their respective roles and responsibilities with regard to food emergencies.

Registration:

E-mail or fax attached registration form to dhenderson@agr.wa.gov Fax (360) 902-2092 Confirmation and additional information will be e-mailed or mailed to course participants.

This is a FREE course. With prior approval, lodging may be reimbursed for those participants who must travel 50 miles or more to attend. Contact d.henderson@agr.wa.gov for more information.