

Chehalis River Flood Programs Update

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and the State of Washington invite you to learn about active programs that address flooding and related concerns throughout the Chehalis River Basin. To accommodate the community, we have arranged three opportunities for the public to attend the same meeting.

Meeting Highlights

- Update on the Twin Cities project, which will increase the level of flood protection to many residents, businesses, and properties in and around Centralia and Chehalis.
- An update on the Chehalis River Basin General Investigation, which is looking at basinwide flood risk management and ecosystem restoration projects.

Agenda

- | | |
