Hi Mindy

Thank you for the email.

The figures represented in the Report of Examination (ROE) are projections only. Table 2 was intended to capture the relative ramp up of the camp but does not capture all the projected visitors, like special events. Water Demand is calculated in Table 3 and based on Average Day Demand (ADD). The 49,500 gallons per day is our projected peak day use, but that is not what our allocation is based on, water right permits are always based on ADD, which is what Table 3 is based on. Table 3, and the text preceding it on page 8 of the ROE, also provides projections related to expected average monthly camp attendees on an expected average daily basis.

I hope this helps respond to the question you have. For deeper detail, I would need to bring in our experts as this is not my field of expertise.

Sincerely,

Gwen Ichinose Bagley (she her hers)

Would you clarify the difference in the number of users that Commissioner Brummer brought up today? He said the text read 20,000 campers per year but Table 2 says 14,000 capers per year – 49,500 gallons water per day.

Thank you
