ADEQUATE FACILITIES-FIRE

Date: 6/16/2017

Fire District: ~~Fire District 1, 127~~ Riverside Fire Authority

Dear Fire Commissioners or Fire Chief,

We are requesting a land use permit for The Skookumchuck Wind Energy Project. The Project is a wind energy generation facility that will consist of up to 51 wind turbines and have a nameplate capacity of up to 176 megawatts (MW). The Project is located in Lewis and Thurston counties in southwestern Washington. For the purposes of this administrative approval application related to the overhead generator interconnection "gen-tie" component of the facility, the project area will be along the proposed transmission line alignment within the Rural Area Industrial (RAI) and Rural Development District (RDD) lands.

Located at 0, 786, 900, and 1100 Big Hanaford Road, Centralia, WA 98531 which lies within your district. Please respond below to indicate whether or not your district has the capacity to serve the proposal or will have the capacity to serve the proposal at the time of development.

Sincerely,

(Applicant)

Fire Commissioners or Fire Chief:

Adequate facilities mean: For residential or commercial buildings with a height of 35 feet and below, two stories or less, and 50,000 square feet or less, the local fire district has the equipment and personnel to serve the new facility without a change in the current level of service for similar facilities existing in the district. For industrial or commercial over 35 feet in height, the district has the equipment and personnel to serve the new facility consistent with the adopted standards of the district, including local fire codes. Fire Districts can provide or secure adequate emergency services to this location for the proposed project.

Yes, we have the capacity to serve the proposed development, or will have the capacity at the time it is developed. (see attached letter) mjk

No, we do not have the capacity to serve the proposed development

RE: RES project at 786, 900 and 1100 Big Hanaford Road

Greetings,

I have signed the adequate facilities letter for fire protection services for these addresses with the understanding that 786 Big Hanaford Road will be the location where the electrical yard will be improved to accommodate the new generation loads. It is also my understanding that 900 and 1100 Big Hanford Road are referenced solely for illustrating where electrical transmission lines will be located.

It is important to note that the transmission lines and associated line structures that are directly accessible by county road and located within the RFA are included in the declaration of adequate facilities. When transmission lines and line structures cross through private property or require access by privately owned and maintained road systems there is no assurance of service without further investigation. Lastly, there are no wind turbines located within the RFA service area so any arrangements for emergency response from the RFA to those facilities must be addressed elsewhere.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Michael S. Kytta, Fire Chief

Apologies, I failed to get back to you on that. The two remaining addresses were just arbitrarily chosen to reflect the approximate location of the project transmission line.

Good afternoon Irina,

The adequate facilities sheet from Lewis County lists the addresses of 786, 900 and 1100 Big Hanaford Road, all of which are located within the Riverside Fire Authority service area. I did attend a meeting at Lewis County Public Works recently where the proposed work at 786 Big Hanaford Road was discussed and I have no concerns with that proposal as it was described. I don't know what is proposed for 900 and 1100 Big Hanaford Road can you provide details about those sites?

Hello Chief Kytta –

As a follow up to the call you attended on November 28 with Sean Bell and Dominic Mincone, you indicated that you would be comfortable in signing the adequate facilities letter that RES needs to submit to Lewis County. If this is still the case, please find attached the form that needs to be signed.

Via separate email sent a few minutes ago I provided the list of project specific measures that RES discussed on the call and that RES promised to circulate.

Please let me know if there is anything additional information that you might need.
